Hello,

Enclosed is the Summer edition of CHOnews 2018 for your viewing pleasure.

Since compiling the articles for this issue we have had a change in government and a new MTCS minister. CHO hopes that the changes made will bring positive news for heritage in Ontario. We welcome the Honorable Sylvia Jones to the MTCS portfolio and look forward to working with her in this role.

Municipal elections are next. This is a chance to find out how local candidates respond and support heritage in their communities. Time to prepare some questions for candidates when they knock on your door or participate in debates. Let them know what heritage issues are important in your neighbourhood.

CHO is looking for a part time Program Officer to help with our workshops and webinars. The deadline is September 7th.

The Sault Ste. Marie Conference was a hit with all the attendees. The city and organizing committee hosted us in style. Next year's conference will be in Goderich and they are well underway in their plans.

Lastly, I need to say that you are receiving this newsletter because you requested the digital edition with your paid membership. If you no longer wish to receive a digital edition please email this address with "unsubscribe" in the subject line.

Happy Reading!
